About the Artist:

Stan Ford ~ a nature photographer specializing in landscapes and wildlife, works primarily in New Mexico and in the national parks & monuments of the American southwest & Hawaii.

After retiring from a career in local government, Stan decided to pursue photography - an interest that began in high school. His work draws upon his degrees in biology (BS) and natural resources (MA).

Stan started "fotos by ford" as a way to share his passion for nature and the environment with others. The tagline - "images from a camera; not a computer" reflect his commitment to documenting nature as he actually experiences it.

He recently completed the first book of his images; "Mother Nature's Selfies", a compilation of his 50 favorite images from the past few years. Currently in production are mini-editions of Mother Nature's Selfies for specific locations and subjects.
